“ROO’S” BOOS / Kelly Weaver

For a different reason, you may or may not see Kelly in person tonight. The past 2 months Monday was a therapy day for her, which left her quite tired. However, it turns out that Nov. 12 was a day scheduled for some tests that she has to be sedated for, so it looks like she may not make her return tonight. The good news is Kelly has completed outpatient therapy and only needs her cane if she tires on long walks. It will be until spring or later until she is able to resume doing readings, but she is able to provide the oils, sprays, powders and other products offered through Kelly's Magical Garden. If not tonight, rest assured she will see all of you at the December meeting. Thanks again from both of us; hoping all had a happy/spooky Halloween season! - JDW

From one of my (JDW) MUFON cases: 10/20/12 (Chambersburg, PA) Objects have been hovering for days even in broad daylight. Almost resting on the treeline not far from my home. Observed in early morning from my upstairs window. Lights are green red and white, and twinkle, which differ from the parking lot lamps below which are a constant unchanging light. Object moves subtly left to right continuing to hover. First seen 10/20/12, 6:28 am. Additional object appeared close below the object and much closer to the ground. 3 more emerged in the sky above first object after periods of dimming then becoming brighter and brighter. One of the five got brighter and changed from a roundish shape into almost a crescent moon shape then vanished after appearing in a completely different area of the sky in a matter of mili seconds then returning to its original position. All five appeared to be in a “V” formation as if strategically and purposely placed. Initial one remains suspended above the woodline at the time of this message. Also notable is the fact that object emitted an orange plasmic ‘orb’ out the bottom of the object. ‘Orb’ appeared as almost a mini firework, lasting only a few seconds. This left me shaken and confused... never have seen anything like this, something so close in my view and so low to the ground. (Spoke at length with wit on 10/23. Very believable; has video too and is sending on CD for my review. Pic is clearest of several submitted. One of 3 cases from same time frame I am working in the Chambersburg Area - JDW)

GETTING RID OF SHADOW PEOPLE

(Used with permission from Rosemary Ellen Guiley's Nov. "Strange Dimensions" newsletter.)

Q: Do you know how to make what you call “Shadow People” go away. My entire family, siblings, children and cousins, have all been effected by these things for all of our lives.

Q: What can I do about the shadow people at my work. How dangerous are they really?

A: There are no universal remedies for Shadow People that work for everyone in all situations, all of the time, or even some of the time.

In my research, I have collected many cases of Shadow People seeming to be attached to entire families, following them wherever they move. They may have a variety of motives for doing so.

Most people experiment until they find something that resolves the problem or brings relief. Such remedies include prayer, anger, will power, religious or magical invocation and amulets, salt, iron, and electromagnetic interference (keeping lights, TV, etc. on). Environmental cleansings usually have a temporary effect.

In the case of Shadow People at work, they may have an attachment to the land that the building is on, and have access through a portal, or thin spot between dimensional realities. They will not go away.

Shadow People seem to benefit from human fear, so not being afraid of them may, in some cases, diminish their activity.

The following is from a Joanne Blair, a client from California Kelly helped a few years ago. The initial comments are from an email she send asking permission to reference Kelly (which she granted).

I recently wrote and self-published a book that is a paranormal murder mystery called The Fourth Dimension of Evil.. As a means of promotion, I am writing an article about my paranormal experiences, including those in Dublin CA when I sought out your counsel. I really appreciated receiving your reading and advice since it was a great help.

The article is quite long since it entails many years of experiences which will include the one that happened while living in Dublin CA. At the time we were very concerned for our dog Poppy whose leash constantly got tied up into an infinity knot and he would literally beg to be picked up which he never did then he would crawl onto the back of my neck. After following your instructions things settled down; especially after following your advice and removed the large mirror that was attached to a dresser facing a window. That mirror was a part of the dresser but I didn't care and threw it away.

Poppy the Ghost Watcher - by JV Blair (Reprinted with permission)

One day while trying to get some answers to the increasing paranormal events happening in my home, I began watching the television show "The Haunting." A young couple with a baby was experiencing some spine tingling ghostly events in their Florida home. After reaching out to a local paranormal investigator, they sought additional help from a gifted and beautiful psychic medium named Kelly Weaver. It was amazing how Kelly was able to ultimately rescue them from the evil source responsible for their paranormal dilemma. Kelly has an amazing gift of being able to conduct readings by holding client's photos sent to her through the mail. In the end, Kelly advised the couple that a dangerous entity was in their home and to get out. The existence of the malevolent entity was later verified by a video showing it looming over the couple's poor crying baby as she lay in her crib. Fortunately, the family was able to escape without further harm and moved elsewhere.

After seeing how paranormal events can escalate into something very frightening, as evidenced in The Haunting show, I decided it was time to seek help and contacted Kelly Weaver for a psychic medium consultation.

The realization of the need and urgency to contact Kelly Weaver developed within months after moving to Dublin CA in 2002. Several strange and unexplainable occurrences began to happen in our new apartment. Soon after settling in our dog Poppy started acting strangely. Poppy is a gold and white Papillion who we adopted from the SPCA in San Francisco. He is a wonderful addition to our family and loved dearly. Although Poppy is a small breed, he never was much of a lap dog. If I tried to put him on my lap he would immediately jump off within five seconds. So, we learned to respect his preference of being on the floor versus one's lap. However, after moving into our new home, Poppy started leaping up and scratching at my legs begging to be picked up. After picking him up, he would literally snake up my arm and go around my neck as though he was trying to hide. It was the weirdest experience to suddenly have Poppy, who wouldn't even sit on my lap, to now bury himself in my hair while clinging to my neck. At first, we thought it was because we moved and maybe he was having a difficult time with the change.

Then one day while getting ready to take Poppy out for a walk, I noticed that there was a large knot tied right in the middle of his leash. At first, I thought the knot resulted from a tangled leash. However, upon closer inspection, the knot contained several complicated twists and turns, not the kind of knot from a tangle. I immediately suspected that my husband or daughter had tried to play a prank on me. I marched into the living room and asked which one of them had tied the knot onto the leash. They both denied having anything to do with it. I just stared at them in disbelief and returned to remove the knot. It became more difficult than expected because of the multi-knot perplexed by the infinity knot's meaning and the mysterious message being sent.

As the days went by, Poppy continued to exhibit strange and nervous behavior. Upon my entering the apartment, Poppy would rush over panting as though he had just run a marathon race and then proceed to claw my leg to be picked up. After picking him up and calming him, I turned to get his leash to take him out for a walk and saw that the infinity knot was once again tied perfectly right in the middle of the leash. As soon as my husband and daughter returned home I demanded a confession about tying the knot in the leash. I thought for sure that they were playing a prank on me especially since I had disclosed to them my suspicions of supernatural activity. Again, both of them denied having anything to do with the leash and knot. By now it was apparent that they were getting annoyed by my continual accusations. I soon began to believe them, especially after experiencing and seeing a paranormal event take place right before my eyes. While brushing my hair I sensed something and looked down at a bottle sitting on the counter. I used the bottle to hold several hair bands. Suddenly the top hair band lifted up slowly on one side and started going up and down in a fan motion. There was absolutely no reason for this to be happening since the window was closed and the air conditioner was off. I hadn't touched the bottle or hair bands prior to this happening. It was nothing less than being supernatural. Fortunately, I wasn't scared since throughout my life I had experienced supernatural occurrences. On the other hand, I was happy to witness this since it confirmed that paranormal occurrences were taking place which had to be what was affecting Poppy and knotting the leash. The paranormal activity started to increase with several incidences including capturing apparitions on camera, the bedroom becoming so cold that I could see my breath and also being pushed and waken in the middle of the night.

That's when I finally decided to contact Kelly Weaver who became my hero in curtailing the paranormal occurrences. Apparently, there had been a lot of spirits crossing through our apartment including a little boy who was in love with Poppy and enjoyed playing with him. Upon listening to the results of Kelly's reading, and following her advice, the supernatural occurrences finally stopped. Poppy soon returned to his elusive manner in not wanting to be a lap dog and thankfully not needing to occupy my neck anymore. Everything in our life while in Dublin CA appeared to have returned to being normal.

Our new home was located in Sacramento CA within the Pocket-Greenhaven area. The normalcy lasted until 2012, and then we moved and paranormal events once again became a part of our lives.

Little did we know at the time that the area was considered to be a supernatural hot spot. Apparently, several homes in the community were built on top of what used to be the location of two gravesites. One had been a cemetery for Native Americans and the other had been a Portuguese cemetery. Here is a link to some of the paranormal photos taken at this location <http://pinterest.com/jomavesa/paranormal/>. There are many photos of orbs with faces posted along with one that looks just like Marilyn Monroe.

Shortly after moving to Sacramento, Poppy began to sit perfectly still as he intently watched something in front of him. Sometimes he would stare up towards the corner of the ceiling or switch to staring at the floor. He started doing this so much that I decided it was time to take photos to try to capture what he was looking at. Since seeing is believing, Poppy's photos are posted on his Pinterest board that is appropriately named "Poppy the Ghost Watcher."

Here is the link to Poppy's Pinterest board <http://pinterest.com/jomavesa/poppy-the-ghost-watcher/>.

The photos clearly show the orbs he is watching, as well as how the orbs are watching him. One photo shows about three orbs staring right into Poppy's face as he looks back bewildered. The Pocket-Greenhaven area has got to be the most haunted place we have ever lived. No matter what time of day or night it is, orbs can be captured in almost every photo taken in the home. They also can be captured at night in the yard.

Our daughter Veronika was visiting one weekend and was watching TV in the bedroom. She suddenly heard the bathroom door in the hallway close loudly. She assumed it was her dad who had entered into the bathroom. In actuality, unknown to her, she was home alone since her Dad and I had left to pick up our other daughter from a junior prom.

Needless to say, when we got home, Veronika was quite shocked when we announced our arrival. She turned pale and asked "weren't you home dad?" Then she proceeded to tell us about what had happened. That same night Veronika woke up and saw an orb flying past her and disappear into the wall. Veronika slept with the lights on for the rest of the night. I too keep a nightlight along with the television. I also experienced seeing orbs flying around the room and have captured them in photos.

Guess it's time to once again contact the lovely Kelly Weaver for help and guidance in dealing with these new paranormal events. Fortunately for Poppy, Kelly also has a specialty service named "Furry Whispers." <http://kellysmagicalgarden.com/>

In the meantime, Poppy will undoubtedly continue in his role as Poppy the Ghost Watcher and I will continue to bless the home with sage, salt and prayers in hopes that the spirits will be able to move on to a better place.

Congratulations to good friend Rick Fisher on the 1st Anniversary of the National Museum of Mysteries & Research Center in Columbia PA! Opened in October 2011, it has certainly come a long way and today is full of many truly fascinating artifacts and a collection of literature on the paranormal, UFOs, cryptozoology etc. that rivals anything in the country! Craig & Melissa Telesha and Kelly & I were assisting Rick in different ways for several years as he searched for a location, and are so happy to see his dream become reality. Browsing the NMMRC collection is a great way to spend a Sat or Sun afternoon for anyone interested in the paranormal!
